CONFLICT RESOLUTION EXPERIENCE

A former grade school teacher who left that profession to litigate family law cases, Commissioner Gillivan brings both her classroom and courtroom skills to her mediation practice. She is highly respected for her patience, empathy and even temperament as well as her knowledge of the legal issues at hand.

Commissioner Gillivan retired from the bench in 1999 and has since served as a settlement conference judge and judge pro tem in family law cases. She has also mediated and arbitrated a range of civil matters, including contract, homeowner association, and real estate disputes. She began her legal career in 1979 with a successful private practice in family law and was selected as a commissioner in 1989 by the San Diego bar because of her proficiency and excellent reputation. A trained mediator, Commissioner Gillivan serves on volunteer and professional mediation panels and as a family law panelist for the Rutter Group, state and local bars, and other associations.
