

RONALD S. ROSEN, ESQ.

Mediator/Arbitrator

Preeminent entertainment lawyer and longtime neutral Ronald Rosen is a leading expert in intellectual property issues, especially those concerned with copyright litigation and other disputes involving creative works including musical compositions, motion pictures and television productions. Mr. Rosen is also a member of THE PANEL at ARC, a unique three-member team of neutrals dedicated to managing and resolving complex business and entertainment cases.

PRACTICE AREAS

Complex disputes including business/commercial, entertainment, and intellectual property issues.

CONFLICT RESOLUTION EXPERIENCE

Mr. Rosen has served as a mediator and arbitrator for such organizations as IFTA and the Screen Actors Guild, and is currently a member of an arbitration tribunal for a lengthy, high-profile international dispute.

A partner at the law firm of Troy and Gould, Mr. Rosen has represented many leading figures, studios and companies in the entertainment industry in high-profile cases. He has protected the interests and integrity of authors, studios and other creative persons. Having spent much of his life studying music, Mr. Rosen is particularly qualified to address virtually all issues involving the copyright protection of musical works and the difficult issues which arise in music infringement litigation.

In addition to his considerable experience as a trial lawyer, Mr. Rosen has been responsible for both establishing and clarifying legal principles in his work before appellate courts, including the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.
