Hon. Owen Lee Kwong

Los Angeles County Superior Court, Retired

Judge Owen Lee Kwong is well known for his broad and extensive experience in settling cases. He was the first judge to be assigned to the Los Angeles Superior Court's Central Civil Settlement Program. He is especially skilled in settling high-profile, complex cases and has done so all over the country and abroad, including multi-party federal and state cases. In 2003, Judge Kwong was assigned to the ADR Department and, prior to that, handled a direct calendar, fast-track civil trial court and MSCs. Judge Kwong is highly regarded and respected by attorneys and fellow judges, who sent their most contentious cases to him for settlement. Known as the go-to judge, he is an outstanding neutral respected for his intelligence, preparation, broad knowledge of case law, persistence and witty sense of humor. Judge Kwong is considered the master of settlement!

Conflict Resolution Experience

Among Judge Kwong's noted accomplishments:

- Overseeing settlement of the landmark Roman Catholic Diocese of Orange case, which settled in three nights after it had been pending for three years.
- Settling one of the largest environmental disputes in U.S. history involving companion cases Texaco Refining and Marketing Inc. v. Fireman's Fund and Four Star Oil and Gas Co. v. Allianz Insurance Co. The matter involved more than 30 law firms, nearly 200 attorneys and 2,500 environmental sites around the world
